Hungry Take Heavy Risks

In spite of arrest and imprisonment of hundreds of East Berliners by police, thousands still cross into West Berlin to receive free food gifts sent by the U.S. government. This German mother, like thousands of others, loads up her children's knapsacks to carry as much as possible back across the boundary line.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Troops Desert East Germany

BERLIN (AP)—New desertions hit East Germany's Red Wehrmacht Wednesday and thousands of Soviet zone railwaymen have started to sabotage the Communist blockade of American food relief.

Twenty armed soldiers and 17 people's police escaped to West Berlin Wednesday from the duty of enforcing a government ban on free food for East Germans.

Railwaymen in Russian-occupied Brandenburg engaged in wholesale violation of the decree against relief travel to Berlin, allowing 40,000 to slip into the city.

Suspect Ordered To Trial

NELSON, B.C. (CP).—Bail was refused, Wednesday, by a Nelson magistrate when he committed a suspected Doukhobor terrorist for trial in a higher court.

Magistrate William Evans said he found "sufficient evidence" to order Nick Evdokimoff to stand trial on a charge of possessing an explosive substance with intent willfully to cause property damage.

Arrest of the 55-year-old Sons of Freedom Doukhobor, June 29, followed the destruction in incendiary fires of eight Doukhobor homes.

A Crown witness testified at the hearing that he saw Evdokimoff lying face down in tall grass a few feet from where RCMP found a gallon jug of gas and oil.

Wright Resignation In Victoria Rumored

A rumor that Percy Wright, newly-elected MLA for Victoria, would resign his seat in favor of defeated Finance Minister Einar Gunderson was being circulated in Victoria Wednesday.

The three-part rumor also held that:

Ronald B. Worley, executive assistant to Premier Bennett, would become chairman of the government's purchasing commission.

Mr. Wright would take Mr. Worley's post as assistant to the premier.

The rumor was supported by some apparently solid facts.

First, Premier Bennett wants to secure a seat for Finance Minister Gunderson and would like to have Vancouver Island representation in his cabinet.

Finance Minister Gunderson, who was defeated in Oak Bay, possibly would have better luck in Victoria in view of Social Credit's clean sweep of the city's three seats in the June 9 general election.

Second, the rumored switch would solve Mr. Wright's problems. He has applied for leave of absence from his job as assistant city clerk in order to give full time to his duties at the coming session of the legislature.

Mr. Wright, with 22 years' service behind him, would hesitate to give up his City Hall job without some more solid support than an MLA's $3,000 seasonal indemnity.

Third, there are recurrent reports that the government is dissatisfied with the operations of the purchasing commission. The reports have been current since a purchasing commission employee and a forest service engineer were suspended for alleged infractions of regulations governing purchase of government equipment.

Five Fliers Saved

LONDON (CP).—Search ships plowed Wednesday night through heavy seas and United States Air Force planes droned through dense clouds above the area where an American RB-36 bomber crashed in flames early in the day.

Five survivors and a number of bodies had been picked up, according to reports from operations centres spread from Londonderry, Northern Ireland, to Shannon, Ireland, to Sculthorpe, England. But USAF spokesmen in London maintained that their official figures showed four survivors rescued and three men dead, with 16 still missing.

The giant 10-engine plane, with two motors ablaze, ditched in the ocean at dawn. Some of the 23 men aboard were able to parachute before the plane hit the water, 300 miles from land.

The survivors, clinging to life rafts or bits of wreckage, were in the water for hours. Rescue planes spotted some of them during the day, bobbing like specks on waves 15 feet high. The search planes also saw several overturned rafts.

Appeal, Arrest Made

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP).—A plea for co-operation and another arrest were among steps taken Wednesday as Prince Rupert moved to end rioting on the streets.

The arrest of John Graham McKenzie of Prince Rupert brought to eight the number of persons charged with unlawful assembly as a result of a riot last week end which the RCMP broke up with tear gas.

That riot, and one the previous week end, appeared to be directed at the RCMP, with revelers pelting police and city officials with stones.

C. E. Rivett-Carnac, RCMP assistant commissioner, flew here Wednesday from Victoria and held discussions with Mayor Harold Whalen, the inspector of the Prince Rupert RCMP sub-division, and the Indian superintendent.

On his return to Victoria, Mr. Rivett-Carnac would not make any comment on his observations, saying that he would have to have time to make up his report.

"It will be up to the attorney-general to make any announcement, anyway," he said.

"He will report to Attorney-General Robert Bonner as soon as possible, probably Thursday."

Mayor Whalen and city solicitor Thomas W. Brown are drawing up a proclamation pointing out to citizens the "serious consequences" of not co-operating with the authorities. It is to be published Thursday.

City council at a special meeting Monday night approved the action and also endorsed a motion to ask the RCMP inspector here to instruct his men to act "in a more courteous manner" with citizens.

Asked to comment on the courtesy resolution, the assistant commissioner said that courtesy has always been an attribute of the RCMP, "and, of course, it shall continue to be."

Second, the rumored switch would solve Mr. Wright's problems. He has applied for leave of absence from his job as assistant city clerk in order to give full time to his duties at the coming session of the legislature.

Mr. Wright, with 22 years' service behind him, would hesitate to give up his City Hall job without some more solid support than an MLA's $3,000 seasonal indemnity.

Third, there are recurrent reports that the government is dissatisfied with the operations of the purchasing commission. The reports have been current since a purchasing commission employee and a forest service engineer were suspended for alleged infractions of regulations governing purchase of government equipment.

Blood clinics are held only once a month in Victoria, and the reason is that there aren't enough trained people to handle any more clinics.

All blood that is given here is sent to Vancouver to a general blood bank and from there distributed to the hospitals.

Gibbs Joins in Playground Fun

Things were swinging at the new Quimper Street playground Wednesday evening as Reeve P. A. Gibbs, MLA, took a moment out from opening ceremonies to join the fun. The playground, on Harling Point, was equipped by Oak Bay Kiwanis Club.

Broken Men of Battle Returned to Freedom

PANMUNJOM (AP).—The three hundred and ninety-two Allied prisoners, including 70 Americans, were in this second day of the armistice exchange.

Many were sick, crippled or amputees. Some hobbled down from the Communist trucks with crutches and crude canes.

One South Korean was dead on arrival.

Three hundred and ninety-two Allied prisoners, including 70 Americans, were in this second day of the armistice exchange.

Many were sick, crippled or amputees. Some hobbled down from the Communist trucks with crutches and crude canes.

Officer Describes Beatings, Torture

FREEDOM VILLAGE (CP).—Lieut. Col. Thomas D. Harrison, a cousin of chief Allied truce negotiator Lieut. Gen. William K. Harrison, said Thursday he was "beaten with clubs and sticks" and tortured with the "water treatment" by Communist North Koreans.

The air force officer, repatriated Thursday from a prisoner of war camp, said the beatings and torture were inflicted by Red security police trying to obtain military information.

"Treatment of air force personnel was generally worse than that for other prisoners," the fighter pilot said. "In my case they were after military information."

Colonel Harrison said he had never met his cousin who negotiated the armistice under which he was freed. He was a major when imprisoned, but his wife Doris wrote him he had been promoted to lieutenant colonel.

He told reporters of the Communist interrogation methods used on him.

"After two weeks of talking they weren't getting the information they wanted," he said. "First they cut off my food. I was forced to sit and watch other American prisoners eat."

For nine days I was given no food.

"They still couldn't get the information. So one day in November, 10 of them came into my cell. They gave me a pretty terrible beating with clubs and sticks."

"Then they used the water treatment," Colonel Harrison said. "They would bend my head back, put a towel over my face and pour water over the towel."

"I could not breathe. This went on hour after hour, day after day. It was freezing cold. When I would pass out, they would shake me and begin again. They would leave me tied to the chair with the water freezing on and around me."

MARCHED TO YALU

Colonel Harrison said he was bunched with other prisoners and marched to the Yalu River, the northern border of Korea. He had lost one leg, which was amputated in a prison camp.

"So I rode on an oxcart," he said.

The F-80 jet pilot was missing since May 21, 1951. His was the first atrocity story told by Thursday's returning prisoners.

Wednesday, Americans told of 1,250 war prisoners dying in a North Korean death march, of "lots" of others starving to death and other mass atrocities.

Some were borne on litters, their wasted bodies making light burdens for the bearers.

Some of the South Koreans looked like living skeletons.

One American Negro seemed in a state of extreme shock. He stepped into this air from the Communist truck and would have fallen on his face had not a hand caught him.

An Allied officer said one South Korean was dead when he was taken out of the ambulance on a stretcher and examined.

The American Negro, last prisoner to climb out of the first truck, was in deep shock. He appeared to be paralyzed. He stood in the bed of the truck and stared into space before starting to climb down.

Then he seemed to step off into space. A hand caught him.

On the ground, he stood alone briefly and someone shouted:

"Help him! Help him!"

Friendly hands guided him to the medical tent.

The first prisoner out of the first ambulance was missing his left leg at the hip.

He walked with makeshift crutches, tipped with pieces of old inner tube. He talked with the doctors, who helped him into the reception tent.

The second sick patient to arrive came out of the ambulance in a Communist litter.

He was covered with a light blue cotton blanket. His wasted body made only a negligible bulge on the stretcher.

A South Korean said that last April, when all sick and wounded were supposed to be exchanged, some South Koreans were brought south, held for a while, then returned to the northern prisoners.

An emaciated South Korean soldier told of seeing North Korean-Reds beat seven American prisoners so severely with rifle butts that five died within a few hours.

Punishment Death Cause Jury Rules

Soldier's Illness Argued at Inquest

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP).—Detention punishment consisting of navigating an obstacle course caused the death of Pte. Frederick Joseph Burke of Regina by aggravating a previous illness, a coroner's jury ruled Wednesday night.

The five-man jury said the soldier's previous illness should have been considered before the punishment was ordered by army officers.

The jury, under Chief Coroner Smilie Lawson, with Bruce MacDonald of Windsor, Ont., as special counsel, held that pneumonia and pleurisy suffered by Burke in February and March, 1953, caused a condition which over-exertion aggravated, resulting in death July 16.

The jury recommended that more thorough medical examinations be given all men in detention, their medical records be carefully examined and any uncertain conditions reported to officers sentencing them to punishment. The jury also suggested that henceforth medical authorities be available at the obstacle course when trainees are sent over it.

Burke's case aroused public attention when he died within two hours of completing a 45-minute tour of an obstacle course as punishment for having overstayed a leave period.

Army authorities at Camp Petawawa reported that Burke had been given every medical examination required, that he had not indicated he was ill and that he had collapsed suddenly and died.

The inquest was marked by sharp clashes between Dr. Lawson and medical witnesses, with the finding of the jury not solving their disagreement as to whether Burke died of pleuropneumonia or an acute condition which might not have been indicated by an examination a few hours before his death.

Burke's company officers and the officer who sentenced him to undergo the obstacle course testified that Burke, a Korean veteran, had not mentioned that he had been ill when he returned from his leave. They said Burke had refused to explain why he had overstayed his leave.

Capt. D. G. Guthrie of the medical corps, also a Korean veteran, testified that he had certified Burke fit for punishment in an examination two days before his death.

Captain Guthrie said Burke had mentioned he had been in hospital with pneumonia and pleurisy for two months. But, Captain Guthrie added, he did not consider this should affect his ability to undergo detention punishment.

"It was just enough to kill him," commented Dr. Lawson. "I disagree," Captain Guthrie retorted.

Arrival Of Lists Day Late

IN KOREA (CP).—Officers at brigade headquarters said Wednesday that the final amended list of candidates in the August 10 general election did not reach Korea until Tuesday—more than 24 hours after 7,000 of Canada's 25th Brigade started voting.

Polls for Canadian servicemen in Korea are to remain open for three hours every day this week. They were open for the scheduled time Monday.

U.S., Korea Nearing Agreement on Pact

BY ROBERT D. TUCKMAN

SEOUL (AP).—Top aides of State Secretary Dulles and President Rhee Wednesday were reported nearing agreement on a U.S.-Korea mutual security pact.

The two statesmen conferred at Rhee's mansion for their second meeting in two days on vital post-armistice problems and a common course for the forthcoming Korean political conference.

GOOD PROGRESS

Their talks already were reported to have produced considerable progress toward a security treaty and there were indications that accord would be reached before Dulles departs for Washington Saturday.

Discussion of Rhee's long-sought goal of Korean unification was bypassed in Wednesday's opening conference—a session which Dulles said "went very well."

OTHER POINTS

Usually reliable sources here said meanwhile that admission of Communist China to the United Nations and the lifting of embargoes on China trade may be discussed at the post-armistice political conference in Korea.

Both these topics are regarded as strong American bargaining points in negotiations with the Communists on the future of the Far East.

Salmon Hits 102 Pounds

HAZELTON, B.C. (CP).—Five Hazelton Indians have come up with the fish story of the year. And what's more they have the fish to prove it—a 102-pound beauty hauled from the Skeena River.

Department of fisheries officials, reporting the catch Wednesday, said five Indians were required to haul the big spring salmon from the river. It is one of the largest catches ever recorded.

According to department records, the record for a Pacific Coast salmon is 104 pounds.

Busy Red Cross Blood Units Follow Tough Schedule

Regardless of your desire to help, you just can't give blood to the Red Cross any old time you wish.

Officials at Red Cross Headquarters are disturbed by a number of complaints from people who have claimed they were refused when they offered to give blood.

"Taking blood is not just a matter of letting someone bleed until the bottle is full. It requires proper equipment and properly trained personnel," one official said Wednesday.

Blood clinics are held only once a month in Victoria, and the reason is that there aren't enough trained people to handle any more clinics.

All blood that is given here is sent to Vancouver to a general blood bank and from there distributed to the hospitals.

All clinics are organized from Vancouver, and all equipment is dispatched from there for the whole of the province.

In charge of all these arrangements is Col. M. D. Robertson, organizer of the donor panel, and Victoria is just one panel of many.

From Colonel Robertson's office, all dates for clinics throughout the province are set, and the donor teams of 12 persons and a mobile unit are sent.

The unit that comes to Victoria covers a large portion of B.C. each month, and is able to work here for only three days at a time.

Added to that is the organizational work done from the Victoria Red Cross office that sets up each clinic.

A donor unit staff consists of 12 persons—two graduate nurses, two drivers, one technician and seven aides.

After the clinic is finished, the names, addresses and blood types of the donors are tabulated by the Victoria office, and a copy is sent to Vancouver.

All names on the last clinic are deleted and a new list has to be drawn because donors cannot give two months running.

By the present system, men can give once every three months and women once every four, but with the number of volunteer donors available in Victoria, they are usually only asked once every six months.

Because of the number of towns the mobile clinic visits and the immense territory that has to be covered, it is not known exactly what day it will arrive in Victoria each month.

So each month, all donors on the list for that clinic have to be notified by post card, and in order to get 500 sure donors, at least 2,000 have to be informed by the Victoria office.

With all this to do in one short month, it becomes obvious that there is little chance of a constant clinic being in operation.

When the clinic is open, you can donate blood from 1.30 to 4.30 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9.30 at night. With these hours, the clinic personnel are lucky if they are finished by midnight.

So if you have blood to donate, wait until there is a regular clinic—which will be made known through newspapers and radio stations—and the Red Cross will be only too glad to accept.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A VICTORIA woman and her son have left the city carrying travel tickets which are taller than either of them. Mrs. P. D. Fletcher, 600 Speed Avenue, and son, Martin, are bound for New York with transit tickets six feet two inches long. Travel agent George Willis says they are the longest tickets he has ever issued. Reason for the length is the number of stopovers—28 altogether, going and coming.

Radio Station CJVI moved yesterday from the top floor of the Central Building, its home for a dozen years, to new plushy quarters at 817 Fort.

One of the marvels of the move was the arrival of some 15,000 records without a scratch. They were mostly packed in small one-man-size boxes.

Last voice from the old site was that of Lee Hallberg, sales manager, who was with the station when it was still called CFCT. First voice from the new site was that of Bob Switzer, a new announcer from Port Alberni who had never been on the air here before.

New equipment, custom-built by the technical staff, was installed in the new quarters and ready to operate. In the old place, telephone lines were always busy, studio space was cramped, office and studio staffs were in separate quarters and found it hard to keep in touch.

Now there are plenty of telephone lines, plenty of room for all.

Coffee shops of View and Broad Streets and Troncy Alley will lose business, Fort Street cafes will gain. The coffee harvest of at least one Brazilian plantation vanishes down the gullets of CJVI's 43 staffers every day.

People who were in England during the war, or any other time, will remember the fish-and-chip shops. These shops were open in the evening, so that a pub-goer could get chips to go with his pint, or to follow it. In Victoria, curiously enough, the fish-and-chip shops are open in the day, closed in the evening. Of the 21 fish-and-chip houses here, only two stay open after 7 p.m. I asked one operator, whose place is near a beer parlor, why he closed so early. "We tried staying open late, but we got no trade," he said. Just another of those small differences in national eating habits.

A master of the centuries-old East Indian art of fencing with swords and staves will put on a display at Langford community fair this week end. With the stick-fighting master, Bella Singh of Mesachie Lake, will be two pupils, Balwant Singh and Swarn Singh. Bella came here a year or so ago from the Punjab.

The Indian fencers showed previously at Duncan Community Carnival, but this will be their first time in the Victoria area. They will appear on Saturday, the second day of the fair.

To prove his skill with a six-foot steel sword, Bella will whirl it around and slice a potato. Whoops! No head.

Other attractions of the "biggest-ever" fair will include road cycle race from Victoria, parade, civil defense and fire-fighting display, gymkhana, baby show, pet parade, and Norwegian folk dancing.

Top food attraction will be beans—not the tired old beans that are dragged to the table when the cook runs out of ideas, but tangy home-cooked beans prepared a special way. Langford hopes to become as well-known for its beans as Sooke is for its barbecued salmon.

Vanishing Beasts Problem in India

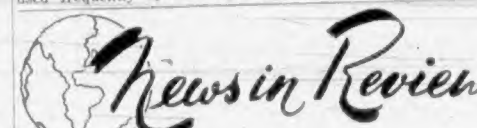

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Amateur hunters, prowling the countryside by night with high-powered rifles, are massacring India's wild life.

Hordes of deer and nilgai (bluebull) which used to roam freely through the jungles and fields of northern India, are being liquidated by poachers who hunt them down in the head-lights of cars and jeeps with no regard to seasons, sex or size of the beasts they kill.

As the deer vanish, so the bigger games, tigers and panthers, robbed of their natural food, begin to raid villages, killing cattle. Some of them become man-eaters, so that expeditions have to be organized to hunt them down.

MEASURES TAKEN
The problem of India's vanishing wild life is causing concern here and governments in several of The States have already taken action to try to protect wild animals.

Some are already extinct. The last report of a wild cheetah in India was several years ago, though in Mogul times they were used frequently to be caught against illicit shooting.

Garden Notes

Begonias Costly, But Worthwhile

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Those gardeners who were fortunate enough to see the begonia display at the Bay a couple of weeks ago must have been impressed by the range of beautiful colors in the giant, double-flowered blossoms. It is amazing to realize that these exotic blooms have all been developed in a matter of 80 years from six rather insignificant, single-flowered species from the Andes.

Like thoroughbred dogs and cattle, begonias with a pedigree are not cheap, but they are a good investment, for with proper care they will last for years, and it is not too hard to increase your stock by vegetative propagation.

There are two ways of doing this—by dividing the tubers in the spring, and by taking cuttings now. If you do both, you can work up a good stock of plants in quite a short time. With the first method, after starting the dormant tubers into growth in boxes of damp peat moss, you divide them vertically with a sharp knife, making sure that each half has a young shoot emerging.

SPECIAL TRICK
While the half-tubers could go into the soil as is, without too much danger of rot, an old English gardener once showed me a trick which I have found most effective: He simply dipped the cut surface of the tuber in cement powder—the kind you use for mixing concrete. This hardened on the surface of the cut, sealing it off, and preventing the entry of rot or disease organisms.

MAY-TAKE CUTTINGS
At this season of the year, cuttings may be taken. Select either suckers springing from the base of the plant, or well-matured side shoots, or top growths which have finished flowering and are beginning to harden. Cut these shoots with a sharp knife half way between the third and fourth joint from the top, and trim off the lower leaves.

Don't insert the cuttings immediately. Like geraniums, the cut surface of the shoot is best exposed to the air for a couple of hours to dry off and form a callus, after which it may be dipped in rootone rooting hormone, the excess powder shaken off, and the cutting inserted in the rooting medium. I find a 50-50 mixture of coarse sand and peat moss works very well. It is best if the mixture is kept a little on the dry side for the first few days. Watering must be done very cautiously, and at no time

Zest for Living on Vancouver Island

Elan Thrives as Hotel, Farm and University

Elan—that French word for national than when she roamed "zest"—has taken root in this country, and celebrated its 16th birthday recently.

Elan took root 16 years ago on a 78-acre estate at Cherry Point, near Cowichan Bay, and has been providing an education for living among nations ever since.

The centre, part hotel, part university and part farm, is managed by Dorothy Punderson, a short, dark, smiling woman who best represents Elan in both meanings—"zest" and education for living among nations.

MORE INTERNATIONAL
Miss Punderson, who is called "Pundi" by friends all over the world, has taken root in this country too. Since establishing world, she has become more interested in the waters of Cowichan Bay.

Visitors are always welcome, many languages. Pundi stresses and are always intrigued by the casual, international air of the place.

Elan fits no category. At first glance it is taken for a resort hotel. On second thought it seems more like a tiny university. But after listening to eight or ten languages being spoken about the place, visitors are inclined to decide that Elan is truly unique.

Pundi speaks five or six languages fluently, switches from one to another with complete ease as the occasion demands, and seems to have lived everywhere.

COMPLETELY VERSATILE

She has managed a farm, been a works project administrator in the United States, and is on familiar terms with most nationalities on their home grounds.

Pundi has put the farm part of Elan on a paying basis. Those who cannot afford to pay full rates to stay at the centre help with farm or other work.

Work and study at Elan are on a practical level. Summer sessions, often attended by youth hostel groups from all over the continent and Europe, are held in July and August.

Study concentrates on languages, music, theatre, literature, folklore, folk-dancing, and sports. Students, painters, writers, artists and plain citizens take part in the discussions and sports, which include fishing in Cowichan Bay, or spend their time in the quiet solitude of the estate offices.

MEALS A TREAT
Meals, served mostly outside on the terrace or great semi-circular balcony, are truly international. Guests and visitors can be certain of sampling food of many nations while staying at Elan.

Few national holidays or festive occasions, whether they are Swiss, Norwegian, Spanish or any other nationality, pass unnoticed at Elan.

The Swiss national celebration of their country's 500-year-old independence was attended at the centre last week by Swiss residents from all over Vancouver Island.

Few evenings pass at Elan without songs being sung, in

Drivers Charged In Bus Tragedy

TORONTO (CP) — Man- slaughter charges were laid Wednesday against the drivers of a bus and truck which collided into a St. Lawrence River canal near Morrisburg, Ont., last Friday with a loss of 20 lives.

C. P. Hope of the Ontario attorney-general's department said the charges were laid against Lorne Chesebrough of Kingston and Max Roodman of Toronto.

Chesebrough was the driver of a Colonial Coach Lines bus which plunged into the canal with 37 aboard, and Roodman the owner of a parked half-ton truck which the bus struck and knocked into the water. Police said the truck was stalled on near the highway before the accident.

Hope said no inquest into the accident will be held because it might prejudice the outcome of the manslaughter trials. Previously Inspector Robert Wainwright of the provincial police had announced an inquest would be held next Friday.

No date was given for hearing the manslaughter charges. Chesebrough talked to reporters Wednesday for the first time since the accident. Previously he had been in a state of shock.

Tropical Species Invade Waters Off Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (CP) — Tropical fish have appeared off Nova Scotia almost every day this summer. Marine scientists say it's another sign the ocean near Canada's east coast is getting warmer.

Two tarpon were caught off Halifax harbor and a ray in St. Ann's Bay this week. Sharks, including a man-eater that terrorized Cape Breton fishermen, have been reported along the coast from Glace Bay to the Bay of Fundy.

All are normally found in waters far south of here. Fisherman Charles Gilkie of Sambro caught a 105-pound tarpon Monday and an 80-pounder Tuesday.

The ray was killed by 10-year-old Alex Finlayson of Sydney. It was about four feet in circumference.

Sambro fish dealer Ray Paslor, a Cuban, said the larger tarpon was "as big as any I ever saw in the Gulf of Mexico."

Dr. S. A. Beatty, director of the Atlantic fisheries station here, says "there is definite evidence the waters off Nova Scotia have been getting a bit warmer each year since 1947."

Whether the warming-up is due to a shift in the ocean current known as the Gulf Stream or to the gradual warming of the earth reported by climatologists is an unanswered question, he said.

When a reporter asked: "What kind of fish do people catch in Jasper, Joe?" the former Yankee Clipper replied: "What are you trying to do? Put me on the spot?"

Then with a grin he added: "Trout, I think."

REGINA (CP) — One vote the CCF party won't get on election day August 10 is that of its candidate in Regina constituency, Claude Ellis.

He had been teaching outside Regina and his name wasn't put on the voters' list. The oversight wasn't noticed until too late.

COLEMAN, Alta. (CP) — Steve Bacovski of East Coleman caught a fish Tuesday that was worth about 30 cents an inch.

Fishing in Elk Valley, B.C., he pulled in a 16-inch trout. When he cut open the trout, he found inside three $1 bills and one $2 bill with an elastic band wrapped neatly around them.

The Baltic Sea, 960 miles long and 400 miles wide, has 5,000 miles of coastline.

Protests Renewed By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. demanded "appropriate compensation" from Russia Wednesday for the shooting down of an American B-50 bomber over the Sea of Japan July 29.

A formal American note rejected Moscow's version of the attack.

The American note, delivered to the Russian foreign office in Moscow, requested "an exhaustive investigation" regarding the whereabouts of the crew of 16 aboard the plane.

U.K. Troops Surround Malay Village

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) — Troops and police surrounded the village of Sungai Pelek in South Selangor state at dusk Tuesday while loudspeakers blared an ultimatum giving the 4,000 villagers until August 17 to co-operate with the government against Communist guerrillas.

The ultimatum was first delivered to the village by the British High Commissioner, Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, when he visited there July 17. He told the people he would put their farmlands out of bounds if they did not give information about guerrilla movements in the area.

Questionnaires distributed to the villagers earlier were brought to Templer at Kuala Lumpur Wednesday. The villagers were kept indoors until the forms were collected and dropped into sealed boxes.

Village leaders who took the sealed boxes to the commissioner told him they had made resolutions to help the war against the guerrillas. But Templer replied: "Resolutions are not enough. It is action that I want."

Consultations Expected On Big Four Prospects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Decisions on a formal reply Britain, the United States and may await the return of State Secretary Dulles, now conferring promptly on Russia's acceptance of their bid for a Big Four Syngman Rhee meeting on German unification.

Western officials are determined that political freedom throughout Germany be an essential step in the process of unification.

Some authorities considered that such a government must be created before a peace treaty can be signed. Their argument has been that a treaty drafted by the big powers in the absence of a representative German regime would be a dictated treaty, rather than a negotiated one.

The three Western governments seemed certain, however, to take a long and careful look at Soviet suggestions for including Red China in a possible conference later on decreasing world tension generally.

First, the Western powers usually have insisted that no one can best be removed by solving specific problems such as the unification of Germany.

Secondly, all three Western governments are keenly sensitive to Kremlin efforts to exploit the differences in their approach to Communist China, return sales tax paid on structural steel in the new Granville Street Bridge with a resultant saving to the city and contractors of $317,333.

The Moscow note was due for a careful study here. U.S. officials said. Initial reaction was that the Russians appeared to have accepted the meeting proposal in a manner which made the further negotiations desirable.

Russia Reduces Arms Budget

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Soviet defense budget picture, least half the total Soviet budget goes directly or indirectly for military purposes.

Western authorities say Soviet military expenditures. As revised last May, the total official budgetary expenditures for the military do not include United States budget was $74.6 billion. More than one fifth of the military do not include United States budget was $74.6 billion. More than one fifth of the military do not include United States budget was $74.6 billion.

Finance Minister Arseny Zverev told a joint session of the Supreme Soviet that 1953 expenditures would be $30,500,000,000. Of this armed forces expenditures are listed at 110,000,000,000 rubles. This would indicate a decrease of 3,600,000,000 rubles from the 1952 armed forces outlay.

The Soviet Union values the ruble at four to the dollar. This would mean in dollar equivalents a budget of $12,500,000,000, of which more than $2,500,000,000 would be for the armed forces. This is not necessarily the whole picture.

There is no indication, for example, how much money under defense spending estimate for the heading of capital investment the next fiscal year to $34,500,000,000 rubles. Comparisons between Soviet and American budgets are difficult because of differences in the operation of the two States experts estimate that at systems.

East Berlin Food Riots

THE East Berlin food riots, now a week old, have probably demolished there if not elsewhere the Soviet myth of self-sufficiency within the iron curtain and want and oppression everywhere else. It is at least obvious to thousands of East Germans now that the food to help them in their plight is not coming from Moscow either at first or second hand. Since it was a cherished obsession with the doctrinaire Communist that the West must collapse of its own economic weakness, this direct reversal of the circumstances must indeed be difficult to explain.

The desperate anxiety of the Soviet police to keep East Germans away from the food, and to stop food crossing the border in any fashion (save as a faked distribution of Soviet relief) showed that considerably more was at stake than a few hundred tons of incidental supplies. If the suppressed peoples behind the iron curtain once got proof in their hands that Soviet descriptions of the free world had been manufactured from whole cloth and bore no relation to the facts they might prove very hard to handle. Thousands of East Germans now have that proof, and along with them a good many Communists who have seen the food riots with their own eyes.

That no doubt accounts for the note, not of urgency but almost of desperation with which border patrols tried to clamp down a rigid blockade against western food relief entering the East Berlin zone. Arrests, imprisonment, threats and every other means were attempted to halt East German acceptance of this help. That this exhibition took place in Soviet controlled territory—and therefore could not in fact be hidden from watching Russian eyes—was the most damaging circumstance of all. How long will it take for at least the basic account of the East Berlin food riots to pass throughout Russia and the satellite lands by word of mouth?

All of a Piece

THAT arresting individual the Duke of Edinburgh has been giving voice to the view that there is no reason why service officers should not take an active interest in the industrial, commercial and economic affairs of their country and the world. He was rebutting the conception that the services have a narrow outlook, doing so by the statement that if this were true it was quite unnecessary.

The Duke himself is the best argument in favor of his thesis. Until destiny made him the public figure he now is he was a comparatively obscure junior officer of a service particularly noted for its silence and individual anonymity, yet obviously he was a student of the doctrine he now promulgates. In his public role as consort of the Queen he has displayed the kind of lively imagination and keen utterance that betoken a long-held concern for matters outside the normal role of his former profession. His is not a new-found interest in non-service affairs but one that stems from previous conviction.

The Duke of Edinburgh's remarks are of course as applicable to serving officers of Canada as they are to those of Great Britain. Opportunities are limited for them to participate actively in civilian affairs, if not in fact absent altogether, because of the mandatory service demands on their mental and physical attributes and certain prescribed traditions. It would be surprising nevertheless if Canadian officers were not as keenly aware of national and world conditions as most of their civilian contemporaries, and possessed of an inclination to follow them at least in private with considerable attention.

The point finally made by the Duke, and it was a good one, was that the defense organization of the country should be seen as part of the broad picture of international relations. Undoubtedly this would appear to be consistent with normal service appreciation of its own functions and responsibilities, which must be fitted into national requirements as a whole. The realm of military service is wider now than ever before in history.

Exchange of Prisoners

THE exchange of prisoners of war on the Korean front, which began this week amid scenes of both jubilation and pathos, is a very material result of the truce that has been reached in that conflict. While it is not believed that there will be many Canadians in the transfers, there has been word of some and that has been good news in this country. Approximately 12,763 Allies and 74,000 Communists are to be exchanged in the direct transfers, before an international commission decides the fate of North Koreans who say they do not seek to be repatriated.

To some of the men liberated, particularly the South Koreans, the move came as a complete surprise. They had not been told by their Communist guards of the cessation of hostilities, the exchange or anything else. They even feared the move south as a some new and disastrous turn of events for themselves. To be freed without warning on top of all that was more than some of the evacuees could stand. They broke down emotionally. Other released prisoners returned to their own lines with a grin, yet inwardly they must have been as deeply stirred as only a man can be when suddenly he realizes that war has given him back his life.

THE CURRIE REPORT

Sir,—If the Duncan MacBride meeting at Cordova Bay is correctly reported, it is a pathetically childish confession of impotence of the Liberal administration. At least Mr. MacBride is not so rash as to deny what the Currie report says, "A general breakdown in the system of administration, supervision and accounting... waste and inefficiency far more costly in loss than that covered by dishonesty."

Says the auditor-general in the course of reporting ten specific irregularities, "There are chaotic accounting methods in the whole department of national defence."

No wonder the Conservatives can justly plead for a mandate to give sane and stable government.

J. PALAMAR,

1221 Lyall Street, Victoria, B.C.

DOMINION AGREEMENTS

Sir,—Some Conservatives, and notably, Social Credit candidates are promoting the alarming and dangerous policy of pitting the west against the east. This is un-Canadian and, if successful, can only lead to destroying Canada as a nation. They are also trying to create the false impression that the provinces are being reduced to vassals of the federal government. Under our constitution the rights and responsibilities of both federal and provincial governments are clearly defined.

The record of our federal administration proves it has been most punctilious in not infringing on the rights of the provinces. For example, the policy of the federal government regarding the construction of the Trans-Canada Highway was to secure complete accord with all the provinces. All details were by mutual agreement with each province. The federal-provincial tax agreements were entered into by all provinces, with the exception of Quebec, by mutual consent. It should be noted here that Mr. Drew has consistently attacked these tax agreements from the time he was premier of Ontario, but, shortly after, his successor and political follower, the Hon. Mr. Frost took over from Mr. Drew, he (Mr. Frost) lost no time in signing a tax agreement with the federal government, the same agreement

Incidentally which Mr. Drew found so iniquitous. Premier Bennett is now parroting Mr. Drew, although he sat for years as a member of the former provincial government supporting the B.C. tax agreement.

These tax agreements have been very beneficial to the provinces participating, avoiding tax duplication, and added expense to the provinces and Canadian taxpayer. We do not wish, I am sure, to revert back to the days when the provinces had full control over their spending. It is responsible to its people only. And it should be pointed out that no provincial premier has suggested that these tax agreements should be terminated.

Many people have advocated that the federal government should shoulder some of our educational costs. But, under our constitution, education is the sole responsibility of the provinces and federal authorities have scrupulously maintained a "hands off policy," although they freely contribute bursaries and other grants for educational purposes.

We all realize our constitution needs revision, but this can only be accomplished by complete agreement and co-operation of the senior and provincial governments.

ARTHUR J. R. ASH,

THE ARMED FORCES

Sir,—Reference to the "election letter" reported addressed to members of our armed forces by the head of the National Liberal Federation:

News of this letter may act also as a reminder of the phoney physician who served as medical officer in Canada's naval ship in Korean war service.

Pure accident—uncovered—the masquerade and led to public knowledge of that matter. Many members of the armed forces, abroad and at home, have probably become aware of a variety of surprising information which very definitely will never reach the public.

The reputed "election letter" may have a very mixed reception.

RHEE THE ESCAPER

Thinking Aloud Gerald Waring

"...of shoes-and ships-and sealing wax-of cabbages-and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THERE is something gruesome, says a writer, about being a professional humorist today. He was talking about the backroom chaps who make up the jokes, not the front men who spill them to audiences.

Comedians who lack native wit—and many of them do, apparently—are admittedly in an awkward predicament now.

days. Times was when a single routine and half-a-dozen jokes would keep vaudevillians going for years; now they need a fresh assortment each time they go on the radio, which is where most of them arrive sooner or later.

It is not surprising then if gag writers, as they are called, grow to resemble Buster Keaton.

One might possibly concoct an interesting treatise on the phenomenon of comedians who bereft of their scripts would be as tongue-tied as a bashful suitor who stammered. Or the equal phenomenon of public adulation heaped on individuals whose only real claim to fame might be, let us say, unadulterated gall.

For the vaudeville artist of old at least it could be said that if the jokes he espoused were borrowed, stolen or bought, he had to memorize them and give them character. He was out in front of the footlights on his own.

Not so the modern peddler of another man's wit. His dialogue is in front of his eyes in typescript and his main audience is out of sight. He has to be able to read, of course, which is a drawback, and sometimes he cannot do that properly.

Brazenness comes to the rescue then, however. All he need do is essay some feeble witticism of his own about the pages being upside down, and lo, his sponsor thinks he is an ad-lib genius; and once he does this six times in a row he comes to believe it himself.

This has reference, be it noted, to the big-name comedy figures of the air. You will find more honest attempts at humor in the programs coming from small private radio stations, where the jokester is endeavoring to project his wit without help.

The network star, as he is called, is surrounded by sycophants in order to put his act over. True enough he has to have some slight talent of his own, but its incidence may be minute so long as there is someone to provide the jokes and a group of stooges to create the illusion of laughter.

This is another queer development, although it's been going on for a long time. Actually it is quite a barefaced proposition, the artifice of a studio audience that applauds, stops applauding, laughs, stops laughing, solely at the direction of a notice board, just as though it had no mind of its own. Which in this puppet role it hasn't.

The hokum is all perfectly above board, of course. There is no secret about these captive audiences that seemingly are persuaded they are having a grand time. It is all still phony, however.

Have you ever stopped to think that most of the alleged and badly overpaid big-name radio "comedians" are really just voices, and voices that would be forever silent without the brainchildren of others to give them sound.

I gather, though, that television is finding most of them out. In this medium one must be seen as well as heard, able to ape the skill of the old-time vaudevillian, and tread the boards as it were on one's own. That is why a likeness to Buster Keaton is spreading from the gag writer to his principal.

A TRUCKLOAD of beer distributed by an unscrupulous sergeant in 1949 had a lot to do with persuading 133 airmen at the RCAF station at Greenwood, N.S., to declare the federal constituency of Annapolis-Kings as their normal place of residence.

Thus their votes were counted in Annapolis-Kings in the election four years ago. The Liberal candidate, A. A. Elderkin, defeated the sitting Progressive Conservative member, George Nowlan, by four votes.

Nowlan cried "Fraud!" The courts voided the election and ordered a new one, which Nowlan won by a majority of 2,500 votes.

The airmen weren't prosecuted—that wouldn't have been good politics for Nowlan in view of the imminent second election—but the incident did prompt the House of Commons Elections Committee to tighten up the regulations for taking the votes of men and women in the armed forces.

The chances of another Greenwood as service men and women vote are practically nil. The reason is that new voting regulations designed to scatter the service vote are in effect.

At the time of the last election, a service man was supposed to have his vote counted in the riding which was his ordinary place of residence. But the honor system was used, and there were no checks on the service voter's statement of his normal place of residence. Thus 133 airmen from points as far distant as Vancouver had no difficulty in having their votes counted in the Nova Scotia riding.

New regulations drafted after Greenwood permitted a service man to decide up to June 21, 1952, whether he wanted his vote counted in the riding where he was stationed,

On the Record...

Analogy With France

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

IF the usurpation by congress of the executive's function continues and accelerates we shall approach the condition of political impotency which is the mortal disease of France.

Americans who follow international politics at all see clearly that France is today a country incapable of conducting a foreign or even a domestic policy. This is not because there are no able men in France. It is because able men are unwilling to assume responsibilities without authority. They are increasingly allergic to accepting offices which demand that decisions be made, only to find that when they propose decisions they are thrown out of office by petty politicians, whose interests are not national or international but party and provincial.

In June, for the first time in the history of the Fourth French Republic, a French premier refused to accept again the nation's highest office until or unless he could be guaranteed greater stability for the executive administration. Paul Reynaud demanded that the National Assembly grant him in advance a tenure of office for at least six months in order that he might conceivably get something accomplished.

In France the problem is constitutional. The presidency is an honorary office with no power at all. The administration is the puppet—the single-chamber parliament—the National Assembly. Constitutionally no government has any security of tenure. Any momentary majority may overthrow it. But the ablest leaders are demanding, if not a constitutional reform to increase in principle the power of the executive, at least a parliamentary agreement to guarantee a few historical minutes of life to each particular government.

In the United States the problem does not demand a constitutional reform. Short of impeachment the constitution guarantees each administration a four-year tenure, in which to make its record and then stand on it before the electorate. It also defines the powers of the executive, both houses of congress, and the judiciary. In this trinity the executive has powers surpassing those in any other republican form of government, which largely explains why this "new" nation is still the world's oldest uninterrupted republic.

But these powers can be rendered impotent by other means than an impotent-making constitution. During F.D.R.'s administration, Roosevelt, usually with a docile congress, so expanded the executive power as to make an eventual reaction all but inevitable. The 18th (Republican) Congress began taking back powers long exercised by a Democratic executive. But so heady is power, by whomsoever exercised, that today a Congress with a Republican majority is busy working to make the Eisenhower administration more impotent than Truman's.

With a scant majority of any kind of Republicans, including those who take a dim view of the men around Eisenhower, a few senators are able to make the executive accountable to them for every appointment. Nobody knows whether his boss is his superior in the state department or any other agency, or somewhere on the hill. The result for the executive is responsibility without authority, which always means demoralization—fear, timidity, cowardice, bootlicking or boredom.

Since able, superior and self-respecting men won't accept this kind of position, the condition tends towards what it is in France. It is utterly incompatible with what we call "world leadership."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

MAN having been born to trouble, as the sparks fly upward, has discovered why the sparks fly upward, and now feels he ought to discover some way of getting rid of trouble. The dream of reformers, from the most ancient times, has been to reduce the troubles of mankind. The trouble has gone on the basic assumption that the more men understand, the fewer would be the troubles. Well, Ellipah the Temanite, who made that remark about troubles and sparks, was not puzzled by the sparks flying upward. He probably understood about hot air rising as well as do the modern physicists. All he was pointing out is that by a law as natural as heated air rising, man is born to trouble. And it looks as if he were right and the social trouble shooters are wrong. If we lose one trouble, we can find another in a minute.

If we look at the record and consider the troubles of our opposite numbers in the days of Julius Caesar, for instance, or our ancestors—for we most certainly had plenty of ancestors—in the time of Henry the Eighth, we cannot suppose they had any more troubles than we have today. Yet we are believed to be a good deal more enlightened than they.

If we could take a toll of the whole human race, the whole 2,000 million of them, and ask what their number one wish was, the chances are good that the top of the poll would be the wish for a little rest from the world's troubles.

And there is some reason for us all to expect such a rest. Across the history of the world have occurred fairly regular periods of rest, when whole nations, whole groups of nations, lay back from strife and coasted for a generation or two, taking time to reflect and consider, to catch up, as it were, on their thinking instead of their doing. In the various nations, Greek, Roman, Spanish, French, British, these eras of rest are referred to as the Golden Age of their separate histories.

Do you suppose we are to have one of these periods of rest in the fairly near future? Haven't we striven and battled and toiled enough, in the past 50 years, to entitle us to a Golden Age for a generation?

STEPPING WESTWARD

The dewy ground was dark and cold; Behind, all gloomy to behold; And stepping westward seemed to be A kind of heavenly destiny; I liked the greeting; 'twas a sound Of something without place or bound; And seemed to give me spiritual right To travel through that region bright.

The voice was soft, and she who spake Was walking by her native lake; The salutation had to me The very sound of courtesy; Its power was felt; and while my eye Was fixed upon the glowing sky, The echo of the voice enwrought A human sweetness with the thought Of travelling through the world that lay

Before me in my endless way.

At the conclusion of one of his European concerts, Mischa Elman was introduced to an ancient dowager, who announced: "The last time I heard you play you were just a curly-haired boy of 10."

"That," Elman admitted ruefully, "was a long time ago. Why, I have a boy older than that!"

"Does he play the violin?" the lady eagerly inquired.

"A little," Elman replied.

"How nice," she beamed. "Maybe, if he practices hard, he'll be another Heifetz some day!"

Quebec Cabinet Minister Shares Drew's Platform

STE GERMAINE, Que. (CP) — Hon. George Drew Wednesday got the second-largest audience of his election campaign so far, and received the endorsement of a provincial cabinet minister as well on a visit to this farming town 55 miles south of Quebec City.

Some 3,000 persons crowded the campus of the agricultural college here as the Progressive Conservative leader made one of his last campaign appearances in Quebec province. He winds up his election tour in Ontario.

He has seen only one larger crowd in more than six weeks—the 5,000 who turned out in Trois-Rivières two weeks ago.

Hon. Joseph Babin, Quebec provincial minister, said: "I guarantee and endorse Mr. Drew. Do you think I didn't believe he would keep his promises?"

Mr. Drew, speaking in both French and English dealt with taxes, federal-provincial relations and farm problems in a trans-Canada political broadcast bid to win Dorchester constituencies.

The Liberal criticism he said was a "whispering campaign that has now become a scream."

At Humboldt, Sask. Premier T. C. Douglas said that if Canadian farmers "take a look at the facts, the Liberals will not elect a single member in any agricultural area."

Unless Canada recovered its week, as a helicopter was used to deliver election equipment to tiny communities of the sprawling constituency of Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador.

In some places the only suitable landing sites were graveyards. Operating from the government icebreakers—d'Herbyville, the pilot flew in and out of the rocky bays with Magistrate Harry Noseworthy, special representative of the returning officer for the constituency, who picked and swore in deputy returning officers.

The navy can claim to have votes farther south than any of the estimated 105,000 eligible service voters. Men aboard the cruiser Ontario, home ward bound to the West Coast from Britain, will vote at Bermuda or at sea. Ballots cast at sea will be flown to Halifax.

Service men and women at home and abroad have to find out the platforms of the political candidates the hard way. Service regulations prohibit political meetings, placarding or advertising in service newspapers at armed forces stations.

So the men and women in uniform must rely on other means to learn about the candidates in their home riding. This is toughest for the estimated 20,000 troops abroad.

"purely routine." However, these key figures were present: Trade Minister Howe, Defense Minister Claxton, Revenue Minister McCann, Transport Minister Chevrier, Postmaster-General Cote and the cabinet's newest member, State Secretary

It was understood the ministers cleaned up a few matters dealing with some minor external affairs appointments and Colombo Plan operation.

There also was believed to have been some discussion on the Liberal party election campaign and its effect on the Liberal government's chances of surviving the vote.

Prime Minister St. Laurent suggested Wednesday night that if there is any danger of dictatorship in Canada it comes not from the Liberal government but from the leader of a party that opposed it.

He injected that statement into a general reply to Progressive Conservative attacks and described that leader as a man who a few months ago had proposed suppression of broadcasting because he did not like the opinions voiced on one of the broadcasts.

A few months ago George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, had been critical in parliament of the publicly-owned CBC for allowing a broadcast by a parliamentary reporter, Michael Barkway, dealing with the Currie report and the charge of horses on the payroll at Petawawa military camp.

Fourth Candidate Withdraws in Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — J. W. L. Journeaux, Independent candidate in Bonaventure in the federal election, has withdrawn from the contest. His withdrawal leaves a straight party fight between Bona Arseneault, Liberal sitting member, and J. A. Goulet, PC.

The Milwaukee Braves cut Brooklyn's first place lead to 7 1/2 games in the National League race Wednesday by rallying late to score a 5-3 victory over the Dodgers, who had beaten them six straight times in the Milwaukee Park.

Walker Cooper hit a pinch single in the eighth inning to drive in what proved to be the winning run. The Braves sent nine men to bat in the rally as they scored on back-to-back doubles by Joe Adcock and Del Crandall and added three more walks and Cooper's hit. In the American League, the Yankees scored a 5-4 victory over Detroit as Billy Martin and Gus Triandos hit successive homers in the fourth inning and Yogi Berra drove in the winning run with a double in the seventh. Relief pitcher Johnny Sain gained his 10th victory. Rookie Ben Flowers, who had made 22 previous appearances as a relief pitcher, turned in an eighth-inning shutout in his first start as he gave the Red Sox a 5-0 victory over the Browns.

Hal Rice hit a two-run homer to give Pittsburgh a 6-4 victory over Cincinnati and offset a pair of homers by Ted Kluszewski, who now has 32 for the season. Gus Bell also hit a homer, his 25th, for the losers.

The Chicago Cubs handed the New York Giants defeat in both ends of a doubleheader, 9-6 and 7-6, the second game in 10 innings, to run the Giants' losing streak to six games.

Sam Mele smashed a two-run homer with two out in the 14th inning to give the White Sox a 9-7 decision over the A's and keep Chicago within five games of the league leading Yankees. Mele's clout came off Morrie Martin, who had hurled six scoreless innings after relieving Marion Fricano in the eighth.

Bob Porterfield of Washington beat Cleveland, 11-0, as he pitched his second straight shutout and his seventh of the season. Porterfield allowed only six hits in gaining his 13th victory of the year.

Bob Miller of the Phillies held the Cardinals to seven hits in gaining a 7-3 triumph. Richie Ashburn scored what proved to be the winning run in the seventh when he walked off-starting pitcher Willard Schmidt, stole second, moved to third on an infield out and came home on Ray Jablonski's error.

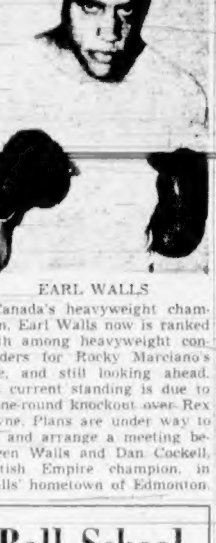

"Luscombe failed."

Friday's program is destined to be the most ambitious giveaway undertaken in local sports memory with more than 100 prizes for spectators. To name a few: nylon stockings, chickens, an 8 mm. movie projector, hampers of groceries, Indian sweaters, coal, turkeys.

The seriousness of the Tyees' situation is voiced by Frank Ireland, president of the boosters club, in appealing to the citizens of Victoria to attend the Capilano games. "You can show your attendance if you wish to see baseball remain in Victoria. This is the only way we can keep baseball here."

night, Friday the club manager and the Tyees' Booster Club is staging "fan night," and the second game of Saturday's twin-bill will be a "family night" affair.

All women will be admitted free of charge for Thursday's game and, Saturday evening, if father pays, mother and all children under 14 may accompany him without charge.

Farmer Construction, turning back a determined bid by Central Carriage, racked up its 20th consecutive victory in city senior softball tournament Tuesday night.

Right-hander Ed Corbett tossed a neat two-hitter for the winners, giving up a triple to Art Pike in the opening frame and a single to Norm Curran in the fourth. The losers' lone rally was unearned, coming in the second inning on a walk to Dave Price, a passed ball, an infield out and catcher Jack Shields' error.

Shortstop Dave Wakelyn, making his first start on the mound for Central Carriage, held out heavy-hitting Farmers to seven hits, yielding only a single to Ed Corbett in the first four innings.

Furmston Returns To Beat Students

Butler's Aces, who yesterday were bemoaning the loss of two pitchers and their poor chances of surviving the best-of-five semi-final series with Chinese Students, are not so badly off as was first indicated.

John Furmston returned to the fold last night and pitched the Brentwood crew to a 7-3 victory over the Students in spite of a injured toe. Students, however, still lead the series 2-1 and can clinch it with a win against Aces-Friday.

Archie Sluggitt, the other Butler pitcher who was reported out for the series, announced last night he would be ready in spite of a cracked rib.

Whether it was Big John's return or the improvement in their chances, the Aces displayed some of their old team spirit and hustle which had been lacking in recent games.

It took Aces until the fourth to break through Bud Ross' steady pitching. Ron Benn worked Ross for a walk after two were out and Furmston followed with a double down the third base line. Benn fooled the Student infield by going all the way for the first run.

The Turner brothers gave Brentwood two more in the fifth. Red Turner walked and White Turner then slammed a home run to right centre field. They scored what proved to be the winning runs in the sixth on a walk, singles by Hal Yardley and Frank Kilshaw and a ground out.

Students threatened Furmston in the first, and particularly the third inning, when they loaded the bases with none out but were unable to push a run across. A snappy double play started by Furmston killed the third-inning threat.

It took them until the fifth to break through. Ross and Don Robinson led off with singles. Catcher Whitey Turner picked Ross off second base with a bullet-like throw, but Jimmy John was safe on a fielder's choice and Tom Derr singled in front of the centre fielder and two runs came across.

Walter Derr added Students' other run in the bottom of the eighth when he led off with a home run to the left field trees.

Capital City—Gasmen and Navy will meet in the fourth game of their best-of-five semi-final series—Thursday at the Upper Central Park diamond at 6:30 p.m. Gasmen hold a 2-0 lead with one game tied.

Profits of Imperial Oil Show Gain

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonial Business Editor

In common with the majority of larger Canadian and United States firms, Imperial Oil has made higher profits in the first six months of this year than it did in the same period of 1952.

The industrialist list had losses and gains well scrambled but firms appeared in the banks and refineries of oils. Construction and steel showed a majority of losses.

The widest change was the 50 cents added by Anglo-Canadian. Golds were the one bright spot in the market as northern and juniors added to Tuesday's late gains. Bralorne, Wheat-Harvest and Kerr Addison topped the advance.

Uranium and New Brunswick base metals closed narrowly lower as a group. Base metals showed a small margin of minus signs. Noranda, Hudson Bay and International Nickel gave up between a quarter and half a point each while Sherritt-Gordon dropped pennies.

Western oils extended Tuesday's losses as British, Canadian Atlantic and Pacific Petroleum lost ground. Senior Oils Gain

MONTREAL (C.P.)—The stock market traded within a narrow range and at the close advances and declines were in balance. Papers, utilities, banks and senior oils were firmer while beverages, senior metals and carriers turned lower. Steels were irregular and miscellaneous industrials generally unchanged.

Higher were Asbestos Corporation, Abitibi, Howard Smith, Brazilian, Noranda, Imperial Oil, Algoma, Bank of Toronto and Bank of Montreal.

Mines were mixed with changes generally limited to a five-cent range in light volume. Caspar jumped 80 cents while Anacostia and Frohberg gained five cents. United Asbestos, Sherritt-Gordon and Chimo fell five cents.

Western oils were generally unchanged by Federated Petroleum dipped 25 cents to $5.10.

TRUBLE ON THE LINE
Owing to transmission troubles between Victoria and Montreal, the Colonist regrets that Wednesday's Montreal and Toronto stock market quotations published on this page may not be complete.

Distillers Firmer
VANCOUVER — With the exception of Anglo-Canadian which was strong at $6, there was little activity in oils. Fargo after making a smart advance Tuesday lost some of its gain at 2.37.

Alberta Distillers closed firmer at 1.50, while B.C. Telephone at $36 and Powell River at $25 1/2 remained unchanged.

New York Rallies
NEW YORK — Increased activity in the closing hour brought prices out of a first-hour slump, and the overall losses of the day were small.

In the ten most active issues the top six all advanced as did the tenth, while the three others were unchanged.

Experts liked the market action. Drop in the price of copper affected some producers.

Imperial Oil earnings, after taxation, netted $20,000,000. This is an increase of $801,777 on Imperial's first half of 1952 when the net was $19,203,921 or 64.3 cents a share.

The lower rate of corporate tax now payable is responsible to some degree for the more favorable Imperial Oil picture, just as it is with so many other companies who would otherwise have been running very near to last year's results.

COPPER PRICE DROPS

The British government released its controls on copper Wednesday and the price slid in the free market from the fixed price of $252 a ton to $215 a ton.

The new price is about equivalent to 27 cents a pound. New York dipped its copper price from 29 cents to meet the new competition.

ROUNDOUT HELP
Two Victoria citizens have responded to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce appeal for suggestions as to how the traffic at the Hillside roundabout can best be handled when the new Island Highway outlet is completed.

The plan of R. J. Dempster, 1339 Wende Road, is for an underpass. The other by F. A. Clapp, 557 Eastern Road, involves the shipping of the Douglas and Government Street traffics.

SOCKEYES REAPPEAR

Million Job For Dredging
OTTAWA (C.P.)—The public works department announced Wednesday, a contract for dredging the entrance to Vancouver harbor has been awarded to the B.C. Bridge and Dredging Company and the Western Dredging Company.

The dredging will be carried out along a 1/2 mile stretch of the First Narrows and will permit large deep-sea ships to enter or leave the harbor at low tide.

The work, expected to start immediately, will cost about $1,000,000 and will take from 10 to 12 months to complete.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (C.P.)—Aggressive commercial demand in oats and barley was featured in fairly active trade. Prices showed a firm trend.

Orders for barley were received from overseas buyers as well as American shipping interests connected with mailing requirements. About 300,000 cwt. of barley were sold to the United Kingdom and the Continent.

Domestic purchases and American interests accounted for much of the oats trade. Light offerings in flax were taken by industrial and seaboard firms. Rye showed higher due to advances in the U.S. market.

Prices on top grades Class Two and IWA Wheat were 1 cent lower.

'Luxury' Taxes on Cars Under Fire by George

The members of Vancouver's inner city were not the only ones who are beginning to feel that the "luxury" taxes on cars are a burden. The Conservative party, which has been in power in the province since 1948, is now under fire for its policy of taxing cars. It was obvious from the revelations in the past year that this policy could be done with ease and without reducing a single social service. The fact that the tax is paid by the owner of the car, and not by the manufacturer, is a further point against it. The tax is a burden on the owner, and it is a burden on the economy. The tax is a burden on the owner, and it is a burden on the economy. The tax is a burden on the owner, and it is a burden on the economy.

Puppy Sometimes Helps Lad with Fear of Dogs

By R. ROBERT MAGGS

There was no history of the boy being bitten or nipped at by a dog and the father was quite unimpressed that his son was so afraid of dogs as to be unable to go to the park and play with the other boys.

I found him of course that it was the wrong thing to do. I told him that he should not be afraid of dogs and that he should go to the park and play with the other boys.

ONLY the LIBERALS CAN FORM A GOVERNMENT

The "SOCREDS"

For all the 265 ridings across Canada, the Socreds have nominated only 71 candidates—so that if they were to win EVERY seat, quite an impossibility, they still will get nowhere in the National Government.

The "P-C's"

In the last government the Progressive Conservative party held 49 seats out of the total 265. They would have to hold ALL their present seats and win 84 more to get a majority of the total, which is generally regarded as an impossibility. As the traditionally conservative "Saturday Night" stated in its issue of Jan. 11th: "They have not shown themselves ready to take on the government."

The "C.C.F."

The C.C.F. have not the slightest chance of forming a government. They will make no headway east of Saskatchewan.

Beauty and Hospitality Win Praise of Tourists

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

Take a bow, Mr. and Mrs. Victoria. Visitors coming here this summer from south of the border think you're tops.

"They enjoy the hospitality you give them. They think you are friendly, courteous and helpful. They love your beautiful gardens, your flowers and your scenic drives."

They get a kick out of shopping in your stores, particularly for china, woodens and antiques.

They find your prices generally fair.

They believe that your food and accommodation is top line.

MORE RELAXED HERE

It may be the charm of a more relaxed atmosphere they experience here... or perhaps they just want to believe the tourist advertising... in any event most of the visitors seem to think that Canada "a little bit of old England."

A sample of tourist opinion Wednesday appeared to show that Victoria has few, if any, serious faults in the eyes of holiday visitors.

One man thought the city and adjacent municipalities could assist tourists by posting more directional signs to point the way to places of interest and lead strangers around scenic drives.

Some were a bit annoyed to find some shopping tours they had planned were being hindered by the busy streets closed down at noon on the usual Wednesday tea time.

One couple of this sort said they found the absence of lunch time and the busy streets a disappointment. A similar number of the visitors, however, were surprised to find that Victoria had no parking problems or unreasonable traffic rules.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson of Portland, Ore., hope their first visit to Victoria will be their last.

The couple were on their way to Seattle and left immediately after a honeymoon trip with Victoria as their destination.

They drove through Vancouver and Nanaimo to reach here.

They had heard a great deal about Victoria's charms from their friends. They were told that the city was more English than any of the other West Coast Canadian cities and they haven't been disappointed because they have met so many English people since their arrival.

"I think the people up here are very anxious and warm," they said.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, who are from the Pacific Northwest, are on their way to Seattle and left immediately after a honeymoon trip with Victoria as their destination.

"GORGEOUS PLACE"

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eberts of Hollywood, Cal., believe Victoria is the most "gorgeous" place they've seen and they've been around to such places as South America and Hawaii.

They decided on the spur of the moment to come here. On a trip to Lake Tahoe, Cal., they met a friend who advised them to extend their vacation and see Victoria.

"It's much more beautiful than I expected," commented Mrs. Eberts, who was greatly impressed by the flowers and gardens.

Mr. Eberts said he had lost himself a couple of times on the way around Marine Drive because of the absence of directional signs. He said local police officers had been very helpful in putting him on the right track.

The couple's search for souvenirs was cut short suddenly in a downtown street when they saw a sign for a "Government Street" shop by the Wednesday holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Legge and their Vancouver son, Albert, who are on a vacation trip, followed them one day in Victoria and saw them yesterday night.

Mrs. Legge, who found Victoria gardens and flowers to be the best she has seen in a long time, said she was very impressed by the beauty of the city.

Mr. Legge, who is a deep sea diver, said he was very impressed by the beauty of the city and the hospitality of the people.

WE CAN... WE WILL!

Here's what you're voting for when you vote Progressive Conservative on August 10th. This 16-point program can and will be undertaken this fall by a Progressive Conservative Government.

What is the alternative to this 16-point program? The alternative is five more years of autocratic rule by a Government already too long in office — whose only answer to this positive program is "It can't be done!"

The Progressive Conservative Party is the only party with a positive policy pledging immediate action on tax reductions... elimination of waste and extravagance... lower municipal taxes... a housing program... national health insurance... farm prices related to production costs... recovery of lost markets... these and other matters of public concern are the real issues in this election. The voters of Canada know where this party stands!

- 1 We will reduce federal taxes by at least five hundred million dollars ($500,000,000) a year... without reducing any social security payments, or impairing the efficiency of our armed forces.
- 2 We will exempt municipal councils and school boards from Sales Tax and Excise Tax on all purchases of machinery, equipment, instruments and other goods and will provide for taxation of all federal government properties in municipalities.
- 3 We will immediately call a Dominion-Provincial Tax Conference to revise our whole system of taxation.
- 4 We will greatly reduce the cost of government by ending waste and extravagance, increasing efficiency, eliminating duplication and improving accounting methods. In particular, we will reorganize the Department of National Defence.
- 5 We will re-establish the true principles of the Confederation Pact set forth in the British North America Act: we will restore the Supremacy of Parliament and the Rule of Law.
- 6 We will set up a joint committee of the Senate and House of Commons for the purpose of reforming the Senate with particular reference to the method of appointment, tenure of office and its legislative functions.
- 7 We will introduce legislation to amend the Criminal Code which will make it an offence punishable by due process of law to engage in Communist or other subversive activities designed to destroy our democratic system.
- 8 We will take immediate steps to restore and expand world markets for agricultural and other primary products. Our program will include bold and constructive steps to break the Dollar-Pound Barrier and regain our vital British and Commonwealth Trade.
- 9 We will appoint a National Agricultural Board for the purpose of establishing fair floor prices related to farm production costs.
- 10 We will undertake an immediate review of all national labour legislation for the purpose of improving collective bargaining procedure.
- 11 We will introduce a housing program which will make it possible for people with small incomes to buy new homes by improving the terms and conditions under which houses can be built and purchased.
- 12 We will introduce a contributory health insurance program, in cooperation with the provinces, which will assure to every Canadian proper diagnostic, medical and surgical treatment.
- 13 We will take immediate steps to deal with the freight rate structure in Canada. We will respect all existing regional statutory rates and take every practical step to encourage the use of our own ports for Canadian export and import trade.
- 14 We will immediately review all legislation affecting the Civil Service, so that all except casual employees may become permanent members of the Civil Service, with assurance of security of employment, and promotion by merit to the highest offices within the service. Working hours, pay and advancement will be comparable with employment in industry and commerce.
- 15 We will, in co-operation with the provinces, establish a national policy under a system of free enterprise which will:
 - proceed with a national development program including such projects as the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project, the Saskatchewan River Power and Irrigation Project, Hydro Electric Power Projects in the Maritimes and similar projects of national importance in other parts of Canada.
 - promote the decentralization of industry so that opportunities for employment and advancement may be extended on the widest possible basis throughout the whole of Canada.
- 16 We believe that Canada has a vital role to play as a member of the Commonwealth and a friendly neighbour of the United States. We pledge our support to NATO and other organizations set up under the United Nations for the preservation of peace and the improvement of social and economic conditions throughout the world.

Vancouver Distributors Offer Cent-a-Quart Milk Price Cut

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver distributors of milk have applied to the board for a price cut of one cent a quart. The distributors, who represent the majority of the milk supply in the city, say the price cut is necessary because of a decline in the price of milk in the United States.

The distributors say the price of milk in the United States has fallen from 15 cents a quart to 14 cents a quart. They say the price of milk in Canada is still at 15 cents a quart, which is higher than the price in the United States.

New Working Hours Affect Bus Lines

Further schedule changes may be necessary to accommodate the new bus lines which have been created by the change in hours of work of civil servants.

Since the new working schedule at the executive buildings became effective this week, the former "before nine" rush has moved back half an hour, with civil servants going to work at 8:30 a.m. daily.

It will take us a day or two, however, to get the bus lines adjusted to the new schedule.

Muscles and Monkey Business

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A plea for co-operation and another arrest were among steps taken Wednesday as Prince Rupert moved to end rioting on the streets.

The arrest of John Graham McKenzie of Prince Rupert brought to eight the number of persons charged with unlawful assembly as a result of a riot last week end which the RCMP broke up with tear gas.

That riot, and one the previous week end, appeared to be directed at the RCMP, with revelers pelting police and city officials with stones.

C. E. Rivett-Carnac, RCMP assistant commissioner, flew here Wednesday from Victoria and held discussions with Mayor Harold Whalen, the inspector of the Prince Rupert RCMP sub-division and the Indian superintendent.

NO COMMENT

(On his return to Victoria, Mr. Rivett-Carnac would not make any comment on his observations, saying that he would be.

Wright Resignation In Victoria Rumored

A rumor that Percy Wright, newly-elected MLA for Victoria, would resign his seat in favor of defeated Finance Minister Einar Gunderson was being circulated in Victoria Wednesday.

The three-part rumor also held that:

Ronald B. Worley, executive assistant to Premier Bennett, would become chairman of the government's purchasing commission;

Mr. Wright would take Mr. Worley's post as assistant to the premier.

The rumor was supported by some apparently solid facts.

First, Premier Bennett wants to secure a seat for Finance Minister Gunderson and would like to have Vancouver Island representation in his cabinet.

ARMY PUNISHMENT RULED DEATH CAUSE

Ships Save Five Fliers

LONDON (CP)—Search ships plowed Wednesday night through heavy seas and United States Air Force planes dived through dense clouds above the area where an American RB-36 bomber crashed in flames early in the day.

Five survivors and a number of bodies had been picked up, according to reports from operations centres spread from Londonderry, Northern Ireland, to Shannon, Ireland, to Sculthorpe, England. But USAF spokesmen in London maintained that their official figures showed four survivors rescued and

Accord Nearing On Pact

BY ROBERT D. TUCKMAN
SEOUL (AP)—Top aides of State Secretary Dulles and President Rhee Wednesday were reported nearing agreement on a U.S.-Korea mutual security pact.

The two statesmen conferred at Rhee's mansion for their second meeting in two days on vital post-armistice problems and a common course for the forthcoming Korean political conference.

GOOD PROGRESS

Their talks already were reported to have produced considerable progress toward a security treaty and there were indications that accord would be reached before Dulles departs for Washington Saturday.

Discussion of Rhee's long-sought goal of Korean unification was bypassed in Wednesday's opening conference—a session which Dulles said "went very well."

OTHER POINTS

Usually reliable sources here said meanwhile that admission of Communist China to the United Nations and the lifting of embargoes on China trade may be discussed at the post-armistice political conference on Korea.

Both these topics are regarded as strong American bargaining points in negotiations with the Communists on the future of the Far East.

Broken Men of Battle Returned to Freedom

BY GEORGE A. MACARTHUR
PANMUNJOM (AP)—The hurt, the lame and the desperately ill streamed back to freedom Wednesday from the Red stockades of North Korea. Their condition raised a burning question why they were not released in last April's pre-armistice trade of sick and wounded prisoners.

One South Korean was dead on arrival.

Three hundred and ninety-two Allied prisoners, including 70 Americans, were in this second day of the armistice exchange.

Many were sick, crippled or amputees. Some hobbled down from the Communist trucks with crutches and crude canes. Some were borne on litters, their wasted bodies making light burdens for the bearers.

These men appeared in much worse condition than the 70 Americans and 330 other Allied freed Wednesday by the Chinese and North Korean Reds. British POWs returning today appeared in good condition.

Some of the South Koreans looked like living skeletons.

One American Negro seemed in a state of extreme shock. He stepped into this air from the Communist truck and would have fallen on his face had not a hand caught him.

An Allied officer said one South Korean was dead when

Hungry Take Heavy Risks

In spite of arrest and imprisonment of hundreds of East Berliners by police, thousands still cross into West Berlin to receive free food gifts sent by the U.S. government. Troops Desert East Germany

BERLIN (AP)—New desertions hit East Germany's Red Wehrmacht Wednesday and thousands of Soviet zone railwaymen have started to sabotage the Communist blockade of American food relief.

Twenty armed soldiers and 17 people's police escaped to West Berlin Wednesday from the duty of enforcing a government ban on free food for East Germans.

Railwaymen in Russian-occupied Brandenburg engaged in wholesale violation of the decree against relief travel to Berlin, allowing 40,000 to slip into the city.

The total of U.S.-financed food packages given away in 10 days reached 1,570,000. There were 125,000 handed out Wednesday.

The rush of Brandenburgers evading the Red railway ban nearly equalled the number coming daily before the travel ban

Soldier Partially Blamed For Not Reporting Illness

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—Detention punishment consisting of navigating an obstacle course caused the death of Pte. Frederick Joseph Burke of Regina by aggravating a previous illness, a coroner's jury ruled Wednesday night.

The five-man jury said the soldier's previous illness should have been considered before the punishment was ordered by army officers.

The jury, under Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson, with Bruce MacDonald of Windsor, Ont., as special counsel, held that pneumonia and pleurisy suffered by Burke in February and March, 1953, caused a condition which over-exercised aggravated, resulting in death July 16.

The jury recommended that more thorough medical examinations be given all men in detention, their medical records be carefully examined and any uncertain conditions reported to officers sentencing them to punishment. The jury also suggested that henceforth medical authorities be available at the obstacle course when trainees are sent over it.

Burke's case aroused public attention when he died within two hours of completing a 45-minute tour of an obstacle course as punishment for having overstayed a leave period.

Army authorities at Camp Petawawa reported that Burke had been given every medical examination required, that he

Officer Describes Beatings, Torture

FREEDOM VILLAGE (UP)—For nine days I was given no food, a cousin of chief Allied negotiator, Lieut. Gen. William K. Harrison, said Wednesday he was "beaten with my cell, they gave me a pretty club and sticks" and tortured with the "water treatment" by sticks.

"Then they used the water treatment," Colonel Harrison said. "They would bend my head back, put a towel over my face and pour water over the towel."

"I could not breathe. This went on hour after hour, day after day. It was freezing cold. When I would pass out, they would shake me and begin again. They would leave me tied to the chair with the water freezing on and around me."
